REMARKS

25X1

On 22 August 1953, firing with 85-mm AA guns at sea targets and with 37-mm and 85-mm AA guns at airborne targets was practiced at the Rerik firing range. The airborne target was represented by a Tu-2 on which no sleeve target was observed. The smoke of detonating shells was observed about 1,000 meters aft of the target aircraft.

25X1 Comment. It is known that the AA batteries stationed in the Soviet Zone of Germany practice firing at the Rerik firing range which is located on the Wustrow Peninsula. The target aircraft are probably stationed at Puetnitz airfield.
